2009 News

We are delighted to announce that Access Sports Online is now receiving regular visits from members (and hopefully 'soon to be' members) located in over 60 countries across the world.

However, we are still keen to keep promoting, and are aware that word of mouth is the best way to succeed so please recommend us to anyone you think the site may be of use to. They could simply be people that are moving house to another area and want to find a suitable club to continue playing whatever sport they are interested in. Or, they could be looking for that overseas experience and possibly chance of a lifetime to test their skills in a foreign environment.

We can also announce a new association with The Wisden Cricketer Magazine, already displaying our ads in their pages, a feature will appear soon, so keep your eyes peeled.

NEW FEATURE:

May 2009 Members Update

Featured Members:

Tatenda Bako
– Semi Professional – Striker –
Rugby Town FC

Sarisbury Athletic Cricket Club
– Hampshire, UK

Ousim Khurshid -
Mpumalanga/KZN Inland

We are looking for Players, Clubs and Therapists to allow us to follow them throughout their season. To give an insight in to the issues that affect them and also the weird and wonderful goings on that we all know happen. Therefore if you or your club would like to benefit from this additional profile or you simply feel you would like to share your experiences with our members, please contact us. Your details and stories will be displayed on the homepages of each sport.

National Sports Highlights/Lowlights:

England - 2009 ICC Women's Cricket World Cup – Winners

England started the World Cup as favourites and finished it as worthy champions. Congratulations to Charlotte Edwards and her team on their success.

2009 British & Irish Lions Squad Announced – 18 Days to go!

29 year old Irish Lock Paul O'Connell named as captain for the tour to South Africa this summer. Compare all the members of the squad and find out more about the tour at <http://www.lionsrugby.com/thetour/7120.php>.

2009 Uefa Champions league Final – 27th May, KO 8:45pm – Rome

Even without a player in the top 8 goal scorers for this year's competition, Manchester United have managed to once again reach the final of this premier club tournament. With 'only' Lionel Messi and his flamboyant Barcelona team mates in their way, it is still possible for the red devils to repeat last year's feat of success in the Premiership and in Europe. This could be one of the most exciting matches to have been played in the competition's history and so should not be missed. Find out more about the competition at <http://www.uefa.com/competitions/ucl/index.html>.

.....And Finally

We want the site to become a valuable online tool for our members and would also welcome any suggestions of additional improvements via our feedback page.

Make sure you upload photos and other interesting facts to your profile about yourself or your club to stand out from the rest.

Don't forget to pass on our 'limited' Free Lifetime Membership promotion code to your sporting friends, Coaches, Sports Therapists and also any Club you are involved with. The more members we get on the site, means the more promotion for you and your clubs. Hopefully you will also start to see the benefits such as new and exciting players, better results and also opportunities to develop your individual game.

Simply complete your profile, and enter the following code on the payment screen:
